

Located in Riquewihr, the heart of winemaking country in Alsace's Haut-Rhin region, Dopff & Irion was created with the marriage of two of Alsace's wine families, the Irions and the Dopffs, which can both trace their winemaking roots to the 16th century.

The historic Château de Riquewihr—now Dopff & Irion's cellar and tasting room—was once owned by the Princes of Wurtemberg.

Dopff & Irion Selling Points

Among Alsace's many centuries-old estates, Dopff & Irion is considered "young," having only been established in 1945. René Dopff restructured the vineyard into five estates, each dedicated to a specific grape variety: Les Murailles (Riesling), Les Sorcières (Gewurztraminer), Les Maquisards (Pinot Gris) and Les Amandiers (Muscat). Pinot Noir, the only red, is bottled under Les Tonnelles. The winery's Tradition and Terroir lines are bottled with grapes from select winegrowers.

In total, Dopff & Irion cultivates more than 68 acres of vines. The winery produces table wines, sparkling Crémant d'Alsace and the rare Vendanges Tardives and Sélections de Grains Nobles.

A testimony to his success: René Dopff has supplied wines to the Palais de L'Elysee, the French president's residence.
